JUDGE TAFT ACTS. He Orders the Federal Marshal to Enforce His Injunction. CINCINNATI, June 12.-The dissatisfaction over the compromise agreement between operators and officers of the United Mine Workers, at Columbus, has caused more apprehension in some quarters, especially railroad circles, than ever. United States Marshal Henry Bohl was attending court at Columbus when summoned here by Judge Taft, of the United States Circuit Court, to-day, and ordered to exhaust his efforts in swearing in deputy marshals to enforce the court's injunction against interfering with the running of trains, especially on the Baltimore & Ohio system. Judge Taft was very emphatic in his orders to Marshal Bohl to suppress all violations of the order of the court, and stated that if the marshal could not secure enough deputies for that purpose the court would immediately call on President Cleveland for government troops. It is stated that the commandants of Fort Thomas and Columbus garrison are advised to be in readiness. Marshal Bohl will station deputies at different points from Cambridge to Bellaire, especially at Wheeling Creek and Bridgeport. The marshal today swore in many old soldiers and rail-road men, the latter being very indignant over the situation to-day. Judge Taft's order is not alone preventative but absolute

He further thought that the national board, in agreeing to a compromise, simply wished to shift responsibility to the miners and relieve itself of the blame for the continuance of the strike and the depredations.

Father Walters, Rector of St. Mary's at Lafayette.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. LAFAYETTE, Ind., June 12 .- Very Reverend P. Walters, rector of St. Mary's Catholic Church of this city, died this afternoon, after an illness of two weeks. Father Walters was born in Jersey City, N. J., March 10, 1839. After an academic course he pursued his theological studies at St. Mary's College, Perry county, Missouri, and then at St. Vincent's, at Cape Girardeau, Mo. He was ordained a priest at Fort Wayne by Bishop Luers, May 15, 1864, and a year later was made secretary of the diocese. January, 1868, Father Walters was given temporary charge of St. Bernard's Church, Crawfordsville, remaining there ten years. May 16, 1878, he was assigned to St. Vincent's Church at Logansport, where he remained until June 16, 1883, when he became pastor of St. Mary's Catholic Church at Lafayette. In 1884 Father Walters accompanied Bishop Dwenger, at his request, to the Third Plenary Council of Baltimore, as the Bishop's the-ologian. May 15, 1889, Father Walters's silver jubilee was celebrated here with great ceremony, church dignitaries from near and far attending. In earlier life he was an associate of Archbishop Ireland, then known as Father Ireland. Father Walters was eminently successful in the management of his church and succeeded in wiping out the heavy debts which hung over each charge to which he was assigned. It was his success in this particular which gave him the title of rector of St. Mary's, to gain which distinction the congregation must be out of debt. Father Walters was one of the ablest priests in the diocese of Fort Wayne.

KANSAS POPULISTS MEET IN STATE CONVENTION.

Contest Between Woman Suffrage and Anti-Suffrage Forces-Breckridge Still in the Race.

TOPEKA, Kan., June 12 .- The 610 delegates to the Populist State convention were on hand to-day for the opening session at 11 o'clock. Temporary organization was perfected by the selection of Ben. S. Henderson, of Winfield, as temporary chairman, and Charles S. Davis, of Junction City, as secretary. The selection of Henderson was a victory for the suffragists. After the reading of a telegram from Mrs. Jerry Simpson, saying Jerry would be on deck when needed, the convention took a recess until 2 p. m.

The afternoon session was taken up with the selection of the various committees and addresses by Miss Susan B. Anthony, Mrs. Chapman Catt in behalf of a woman suffrage plank in the State platform. At the conclusion of Miss Anthony's address a delegate demanded to know whether she would take the stump and urge all friends of woman suffrage to vote the Populist ticket. Miss Anthony's response in the affirmative was greeted with prolonged applause. The committee on permanent organization reported, amid great applause, the name of J. M. Dunsmore as permanent chairman, and Ben Rich as secretary. Dunsmore was Speaker and Rich clerk of the Populist House, declared to be illegal by the Supreme Court at the time of the Legislative trouble in the winter of 1892-93. The report of the committee was adopted. There was considerable sparring between the woman suffrage and anti-suffrage forces over a motion to refer all resolutions to the committee on resolutions. Ex-Speaker Elder was the leader of the anti-suffrage forces and Judge Doster of the suffragists. There was much enthusiasm whenever the question of extending the franchise to women was mentioned. At 6 o'clock the convention took a recess. The night session was devoted to raising money for the campaign and the transaction of routine business until 10 o'clock, when the convention adjourned without reaching any nominations The platform agreed upon in committee reaffirms the principles enunciated in the Omaha resolutions and points to the present industrial troubles as a fulfillment of the prophecy then made. The money plank demands free coinage of silver at 16 to 1 and denounces any party which fails to carry out that policy. Interest-bearing bonds are opposed and the issue of full legal-tender treasury notes payable in both gold and silver are demanded.

The minority submits the following:
"Whereas, The People's party came into

He characterized the statement sent out from Lexington as false and expressed his usual confidence in an outcome favorable to himself. He said: "The story is utterly without foundation. Whether it was instigated by enemies or not I will not say. At any rate it is a malicious lie. In the first place l have no brother Cabel Breckinridge. I have a cousin, however, bearing that name. nation and propose to continue a candidate. Nothing but death will take me out of the race. You can depend upon that. Further than that I have nothing whatever to say." The report referred to said: "There is a fumor here (Lexington), this morning, that Colonel Breckinridge will withdraw from the race. His brother, Cabel Breckinridge, has been here to consult with close friends of the Colonel, and it is said to be their wish, as well as that of relatives of Colonel Breckinridge that he should withdraw and spare his family and himself further disgrace and notoriety, and also to prevent the disruption of the Democratic party in the Seventh district."

Nebraska Republican League. OMAHA, Neb., June 12.-Fifteen hundred delegates were present when the State League of Republican Clubs convened at noon. President Lansing stated that he hoped the convention would not undertake to frame a platform for the nominating convention, which is to meet in Omaha next August. He thought the delegates to the present convention should content themselves with renewing their allegiance to the principles of the Republican party, and with the selection of delegates to the national convention of Republican clubs, which is to meet in Denver the latter part of this month. This allusion to the deter-mination of some delegates to bring in the silver issue was pointed out and brought forth cheers from many of the delegates. John M. WASHINGTON, June 12.—The Virginia Republican committee, representing the ten different congressional districts of the State, in session here, adopted, though not unanimously, a resolution stating that the committee deems it unwise to call congressional conventions for the purpose of making Republican congressional nominations in Virginia for the autumn elections. The resolution expressly states, however, that the committee has no intention of attempting to prevent any person from running for Congress or the people from nominating a representative if they feel disposed to do so. WILLIAM ASTOR CHANLER.

The Famous Young African Explorer Returns to New York.

NEW YORK, June 12.-Unheralded and unknown to those on the pier an unassuming young gentleman, with a smooth, sundyed face, marched down the gangway of the steamer Aller this morning. He was William Astor Chandler, just returned home after a three years' absence abroad, twenty-two months of which have been passed in the heart of Africa in regions never before penetrated by white men. After a warm greeting from two or three friends Mr. Chandler was driven to the Knickerbocker Club. "I am in excellent health," said he, "with the exception of a sluggish liver, as the result of two years in Africa, which I propose to wash out at Carlsbad immediately. I have come home hurriedly for family reasons and expect to remain only a few days. While my expedition has not been entirely successful, owing to the desertions of my men and a plague resembling tetanus or lockjaw, that broke out among my camels and mules, I have gathered a large amount of scientific and geographic data, which will compose the report I propose to make to the New York Geographical Society." William Astor Chandler, youngest of all explorers, is only twenty-eight years old, and was graduated from Harvard seven years ago. He is the son of the late John Winthrop Chandler and a great grandson of the late John Jacob Astor, from whom he inherited a large fortune. He is a member of many New York clubs and of many foreign societies. This is his second expedition into Africa. In 1889 he made a big game shooting trip to Massiland, and was the first white man to go completely round Mount Kilimanjaro.

French Ironclads Hurrying to Tangier -Chinese Fleeing from the Plague-Stricken City of Hong Kong.

LONDON, June 12.-Four French war ships, under Admiral Bourgeois, have started from Toulon for Tangier. The iron clads Magenta, Admiral Nuperre, and Alger, under Admiral Gadaun, have also been ordered to place themselves in readiness to sail for Morocco at the shortest notice. This action of the French government is attracting considerable attention here. The news from Morocco is far from being reassuring, and civil war is anticipated. Conflicting reports are still in circulation in regard to the death of the late Sultan of Morocco, and the general opinion seems to be that Sultan Abdul A:dz will have to defend his throne with

The Pall Mall Gazette this afternoon, referring to the jealousy of the powers in regard to Morocco, says that the danger o European peace is due to the fact that M. Dupuy is Premier, and that he may take this opportunity of striking a blow at English prestige. It is added that a policy of aggression would be popular in France and Spain, which countries would certainly be satisfied with a dual control of Morocco, excluding England from having any voice in the affairs of that country. The Globe and the St. James Gazette apprehend that a civil war will be the only way of settling the succession to the throne of Morocco. The Globe, in view of the dispatch of a French fleet to Morocco, counsels the immediate strengthening of the British fleet off the coast of that

been sent under military escort to Rebat for burial. The succession of the late Sultan's younger son, Abdul Aziz, has been accepted at Casablanca, but a hostile feeling prevails at Fez, where Muley Ismail, a brother of the deceased Sultan, has been acting as the Sultan's representative. Muley Ismail is a popular favorite, and trouble is feared. The Spanish cruiser Conde Venadito has arrived at Tangier. A dispatch to a news agency from Tan-gier says: The news of the Sultan's death has spread among the Kabyles, and as a refult numerous reports of turbulence, murders and lootings have been received. The body of a native was found yesterday morning on the road leading to the Cape Spartel lighthouse. The Basha sent the body to the soldiers, with the request that they make an investigation. A company of troops was sent out on this errand, but was driven back here by a force of armed mountaineers. A dispatch to the Standard from Madrid A dispatch to the Standard from Madrid says: The Spanish generals at Couta and Melilla report that the tribesmen in the vicinity of those places are all loyal to Abdul Aziz. The Spanish minister at Tangier says that Abdul Aziz has 15,000 faithful soldiers near Rabat and Fez and is supported by the ministers, the court and the coast tribes. The attitude of the priesthood, the populace of Tetuan, Fez Casa-blanca, City of Morocco and the tribesmen of the interior is more doubtful and will depend upon the conduct of the elder brother and the uncles of Abdul Aziz. The Foreign Minister at Tangier has assured the Spanish Minister that the new Sultan would execute the treaty with Spain in relation to Melilla. Gen Martinez Campos, the commander of the Spanish forces in Morocco, believes that Abdul Aziz will easily establish his authority if he has the moral support of the European powers. The Correspondencia Espana says that tel-egrams from the Spanish legation at Tangier report that the foreign representatives have held a meeting and decided to ask their respective governments to place menof-war within easy call of Tangier in the event of trouble. A part of the Moorish army favors Muley Ismael, the uncle of Abdul Aziz, for Sultan.

The Late Sultan and His Troubles.

Muley Hassan, Emperor of Morocco. Prince of True Believers, as he was called by his subjects, was a personage of some romantic interest, but politically owed his importance to the jealousies of the European powers, which hope to divide his territory between them some of Inese days, rather than to any special merit or ability of his own. Personally he was a fine specimen of the Oriental despot, a stalwart and handsome man, wearing "the shadow'd livery of the burnish'd sun" with imposing and regal dignity. His court ceremonials were filled with barbaric splendor, and his authority was absolute over all his dominions so far as he was able to enforce it, his actual power over the more distant of his tribesmen being extremely vague. This condition of affairs was the cause of constant complications with the foreign consuls, who held him responsible for all the excesses of his uncontrollable subjects. In 1886 he refused to renew his European commercial treaties. on the ground that the rights which he had conceded had been abused. This caused trouble with the United States and other powers, and the policy adopted at Washington was followed generally by the European representatives. In 1887 the serious sickness of the Sultan excited grave fears of a general insurrection, and many foreign war ships assembled at Tangier. This crisis passed away upon Muley's re-covery. In the following year another serious dispute occurred with the United States, but this, too, was settled amicably. In 1889 the Emperor sent a special mission to Germany, France and Madrid, and made noteworthy visits to Tetuan and Tangler, issuing proclamations forbidding assaults upon Christians. An attack by robbers upon the Italian minister about that time led to some sharp interference by Italy. During the last two or three years the French and English rivalry has involved the Sultan in much embarrassment, and each country has dispatched special missions to Fez to push its interests. Last October the Riff tribes attacked the Spaniards engaged upon new works at Fort Guaraich, and a military expedi-tion of considerable strength was sent from Spain to exact reparation. Muley promised to punish the Riffs and to pay a large indemnity, which at last accounted had not been handed over. What effect his death, violent or otherwise, may have upon existing international conditions remains to be seen. At all events the Morocco question is likely to become acute, for the moment at least, and to add one more to the long list of disputes between France and England. Muley had reigned
